Corrigé (propositions)

Imagine Saf finally decides to answer Scott's mother's tricky question. Use the following starters.

- You know, Mrs Mackenzie, I don't really know the answer to this question myself.
- Scott's probably right, I won't marry someone I don't know.
- But, after all, I'm only eleven, so I haven't really thought seriously about that sort of things.
- It's true my dad believes traditions are essentials and should not be forgotten.
- And for us Asians, family is paramount and you have to respect your parents.
- Still, I have lived in Britain for almost all my life.
- So, even though I can't forget my origins, I am British now, and I will do the same as my British friends.
